

A5 SERIES

Manual Handgun Series

Valco Melton's A5 Manual Gun Series simplifies the process for product assembly applications such as mattresses, furniture, upholstery, etc. This hand-held compact gun has an ergonomic design to endure the roughest working conditions for a longer life of quality assured spray and bead pattern applications, ensuring the safety for the operator with its anti-burn characteristics.

- Guaranteed durability. Lifespan of 1,500,000 cycles.
- Faster surface adhesive coverage. Spray application as wide as 300mm diameter.
- Compatibility with other market standards.

To facilitate easy operation, it may be attached to a hoist or gravity-free bracket to lighten the handgun's weight and stabilize the manual adhesive dispensing application process.

Features an ergonomic handle that resists impact and heat, preserving operator safety by staying cool during extended use.

Safety lock switch to avoid involuntary activation of the gun

360-degree hose swivel eliminates hose twisting, allowing for optimum movement.

Both the adhesive flow and the compressed air are activated directly from the trigger

COMPLETE INSULATION

At Valco Melton, we pay special importance to delivering solutions that have a positive impact on your production.

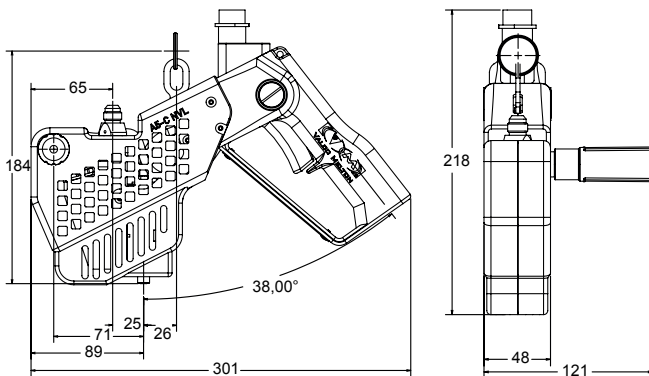

Our A5 Series handgun body, as well as the bead and spray nozzles are fully insulated. This improves energy efficiency while enhancing operator safety in your manual gluing processes.

All the fittings and connectors that work with our A5 handguns are also insulated as a standard. This helps maintain thermal consistency throughout the application process, minimizes heat loss, and further protects operators from accidental burns.
